- Explore communication frameworks and different approaches and strategies to a range of communication challenges

Facilitators

DoctorsTraining is a collaboration of doctors with a wealth of experience at a local, regional and national level in postgraduate medical education, coaching, appraisal and medical leadership. As a group we are passionate about the support and development of doctors by doctors. The workshops have been designed and are delivered by our faculty of clinicians who are experts in their field and inspirational trainers. We have the unique balance allowing us to share many years of real experience along with the latest updates and changes in training from our core team occupying key leadership roles in medical educations.
